

A very important situation came up

A man went into a airport rest stop to do number two and was in much agony and in much need. He paid 10 cents and looked and all the booths were full except one and that person had His feet propped up and could not be seen. The man in need started crawling up under the door thinking it was defective. The man inside shouted, (hold on mister I am doing as much as I can as fast as I can).

This really happened to Del Reeves the Country Music star who was by the way the crawler.