

JAMES RAY GOT HURT, NO HE DID NOT

James Ray and I went to Ogden together and as far as I know He never got in trouble or gave any cause to think He would do anything to a teacher or any other thing at the school house. Ogden had employed a teacher with a bad leg. The teacher was one of the best liked on campus but only taught one year. One day as we were coming out of study hall the old fellow hit James Ray very lightly in the back and said something amusing but I don't know what. The floor was treated with oil back in those days and always dirty. When the old teacher hit James Ray fell to the floor, the old fellow bent down over James Ray cripple leg and all begging what was wrong and all kinds of pleading and James Ray rolled over and just laughed in the old fellows face. Naturally we all laughed then, but now I wonder if that was the right thing to do.
